The defendant admitted that he violated his conditions of supervised release in December of 2009. I am now informed that the defendant has admitted that he accessed and viewed child pornography in February of this year during a polygraph session. I am also informed that the defendant invoked his Fifth Amendment privilege during the polygraph session. Furthermore, I am informed that there is difficulty finding a suitable place for the defendant to serve the previously ordered intermittent confinement. Therefore,

IT IS ORDERED that a hearing shall be held on Friday, March 19, 2010, at 12:00 noon, to consider what actions the court should take regarding the defendant's admission, the defendant's invocation of the Fifth Amendment privilege, and the difficulty finding a suitable place to serve the previously ordered intermittent confinement.

Dated March 10, 2010.
